The Werewolf and the Griffin escape, but the Princess is not so lucky. The Werewolf and the Griffin set out on a quest to free the Princess.

They go to the Werewolf's gym to ask the smartest person they know - the Witch - how to free the Princess. She tells them that the Spirits of the Castle are the answer.

The Griffin and the Werewolf go to speak with the Spirits. The Spirits are not won over by the Griffin's beauty and charm. However, one of the spirits tells them that they can defeat Dracula through song but only if they work together.

At the Climax: The Count approaches to confront the intruders, but just as he appears, the Werewolf and the Griffin combine their musical talents and perform a song so beautiful that Dracula disappears in a puff of bats

The End: The Griffin and the Werewolf free the Princess, and the three of them start the greatest band of all time.
